Eco-friendly/sustainable packaging is used to reduce the impact of environment. They are born in the heart of the Tuscany Maremma, in a unspoiled territory which is splendid for its beauty, culture and history and are excellent also because they are born from the knowledge and love for this work and more because we use selected raw materials comes from spontaneous harvesting and / or from organic crops monitored strictly respecting the balsamic time, in the period of the year and in the phase of the day in which the active principles of the plant are most present: peaceful mornings in May, warm sunsets in July , dry and windy autumn days.

Method of Production

We have always been committed to preserving and developing the heritage of herbal culture inherited from the past, placing ourself on a line of continuity with the ancient traditional Mediterranean medicine; our products are the combination of the millenary herbal tradition and the most recent scientific discoveries concerning the study of medicinal plants. They are in a wide range that adapts to every personal need. They also make use of certifications and analyzes and are extremely valid from a health point of view due to their high content in active ingredients and also because are realized with use of water purified and biodinamized. The biodinamization is necessary to optimise the functions of water that we absorb, it must reach a certain vibratory level

*match that within our body (biocompatibility). This process helps to better absorb
the active ingredients
contained in plants.*

Collaboration:

Some of our products such as the Kalluna Pollution Protection and Hyaloe Lines have been developed in collaboration with the University of Siena and use innovative and extremely effective active ingredients such as Calluna Vulgaris. The laboratory attaches particular importance to the training. They organize internships, workshops and training course for professional and interested people, providing hands-on experience of laboratory practices, together with scientific teaching sessions on the properties of herbs. To spread the culture of herbal medicine they are open to visitors of all ages, school groups and arrange regular tours. There are also collaborations with many of the degree courses in Herbal Sciences in Italy hosting young trainees involved in the drafting of their experimental thesis.

Our Results:

The watchword of our products is Quality, starting from the selection of the best raw materials, passing through rigorous processing methods carried out in an exclusively artisanal way, up to the careful packaging and certified by the constant collaboration with Institutions and Universities.
